Although there are numerous spots on land that invite relaxation and exploration, the Turks and Caicos are really all about the water. More specifically, it's all about what's beneath the water. These islands have some of the best diving and snorkeling anywhere, courtesy of one of the world's largest networks of coral reefs, easily accessible off the islands' shores. Grand Cayman boasts endless beaches that are encircled by coral reefs teeming with an abundance of marine life. On shore, affluent colonial neighborhoods dominate the West Bay area, while the East End affords natural attractions such as spectacular blowholes and fragrant botanical gardens.

Mykonos, a former 18th-century pirates' bastion, is now a sophisticated and cosmopolitan island resort. Dotting the waterfront are cafés, taverns, and tempting shops. Bodrum is a popular destination for jet setters, Turkish intellectuals, and European vacationers who enjoy sandy beaches, sheltered coves, clear, warm waters and a touch of sophistication. Indeed, the city has long been a gathering place for artists and a magnet for yachtsmen.

World Voyage III: New Zealand Treasures, Auckland to Sydney

More Details >>

From $7,740

Ship: Crystal Serenity

Sydney is an energetic and exciting metropolis whose nightlife, shopping, and fine restaurants compare favorably with the finest the world has to offer. The natural setting that helps in its agricultural pursuits also makes Napier popular among retirees and tourists; after all, who can resist picturesque countryside with an air of sophistication and not a whiff of pretension? Add to its bucolic charms a rich Maori history and tales of explorer Captain Cook, and you have a destination worthy of your own discovery.
